RECORD-BREAKING RIDE

Transit racer. Englishman Adham Fisher, 28, has attempted to set records for riding transit systems in London, Chicago, New York City and now Boston. B Line bottleneck. While he beat the current record with a time of eight hours, five minutes and 16 seconds, the Green Line took longer than he anticipated. Englishman, local teen set MBTA record

Tackling the T. An unlikely duo made their way through the MBTA in record time.

An international transit racer and a Cambridge teen on Monday set a new record by dashing through the MBTA subway system in the shortest amount of time ever recorded.

Adham Fisher, 28, of Leicester, England, arrived in Boston Sunday night to plan out Monday's journey, which started around 7 a.m. He was joined by Miles Taylor, 13, who runs transit blog Miles on the MBTA.

The previous record was held by MIT students who finished the run in 11 hours and 48 minutes, according to Fisher, who aimed to finish in six hours and 30 minutes.

Spotlight on MBTA

At the end of the Red Line in Mattapan, the MBTA presented Fisher with a certificate that commended him for "promoting the use of public transportation by riding the entire MBTA rapid transit system in one day."

- "Mr. Fisher reminded everyone that the MBTA offers the easiest and most convenient way to get around Greater Boston," MBTA Spokesman Joe Pesaturo said of the endeavor.

Quoted

"I never look at the stop watch until I've finished the journey."

Adham Fisher
International transit racer

The final time was eight hours, five minutes and 16 seconds, according to Fisher's stopwatch.

"It's going slower than I wanted and anticipated; however, I really didn't know what exactly to expect," said Fisher as he neared the end of the journey yesterday afternoon.

Fisher, who has attempted similar records in London, Chicago and New York City, said he is "not at all interested in transportation," and that he wanted to set the record "for personal satisfaction."

But for Taylor, 13, the challenge was near and dear to his heart. The teen blogger said he skipped a school field trip to join Fisher on his attempt. Although he's happy to have set the record, Taylor said he may attempt to give it another go.

"I'm still very happy with the time, but the original plan was to do it even faster. It was mostly the Green Line, specifically the B branch, that slowed us down. It was being very annoying. There was a lot of bunching, and it was very crowded and going slowly," Taylor said.

Who knows; the transit-crazed teen might just have a future at the T.

"A lot of people ask me why I'm so interested in the [MBTA], and I really don't know why. I guess I'm just hopelessly obsessed."

Santa arrested for allegedly groping elf

A 62-year-old Assonet man who was playing the part of Santa Claus at the Hanover Mall is accused of groping an 18-year-old woman who was working as his elf.

Herbert G. Jones was arrested around 5:30 p.m. Saturday and faces charges of indecent assault and battery on a person over 14, according to Plymouth District Attorney Spokesman Ross Eonas.

Jones / HANOVER POLICE

The company that employs the pair, Cherry Hill Photos of New Jersey, said Jones denies the incident and that a background check showed Jones did not have any prior arrests or convictions.

A reporter who approached Jones as he pulled out of his driveway Monday afternoon was given the middle finger, WBZ-TV reports.

A judge in Hingham District Court ordered that Jones can't work as a Santa while he is out on $1,000 bail. He must also stay away from the Hanover Mall and the alleged victim.

He is due back in court on Christmas Eve. MORGAN ROUSSEAU

Crash. Off-duty trooper allegedly high, drunk when he hit other trooper

An off-duty Massachusetts State Police trooper pleaded not guilty from his hospital bed Monday afternoon after he allegedly was high and drunk when he crashed into the car of an on-duty fellow trooper.

Shawn D'Amato, 43, was arraigned while in his bed at Massachusetts General Hospital where he was taken for his injuries, according to the Suffolk district attorney's office.

D'Amato allegedly crashed his car into the cruiser of a trooper who had pulled over a driver along Route 1 in Revere at about 1 a.m. Monday, state police said.

Trooper John Phonesavanh was sitting in his cruiser writing a citation with his emergency lights on when the crash occurred.

The cruiser was forced into the vehicle Phonesavanh had pulled over. Phonesavanh and the 29-year-old driver from Chelsea he had pulled over suffered injuries that were not life-threatening.

D'Amato, a veteran state trooper who joined the department in 1994, had his gun taken away and was relieved of duty. There will be an internal hearing later this week, state police said.

The charges

D'Amato was arraigned from his hospital bed on Monday.

- He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and drugs, negligent operation of a motor vehicle and obstructing an emergency vehicle.
- A judge released him on his own recognizance and ordered him not to drive during the case.

Gov. Deval Patrick and others lent a helping hand at the Boston-based charity Project Place on Monday, volunteering to help prepare and serve food to dozens of the South End agency's clients. The agency said that more than three-quarters of those enrolled in its programs this past year found employment, education advancement and/or housing. / NICOLAUS CZARNECKI, METRO

Hailo Boston, Miller Lite to battle drunken driving

Free rides. A new safe ride campaign will offer $1 million worth in cab fare next month.

In an effort to dissuade people from drunk driving, Miller Lite and Hailo Boston are partnering to keep the roads safe this holiday season.

Throughout the month of December, the beer company and the digital taxi-finder service are giving away $1 million in cab fare to help prevent drunk driving and encourage people to plan ahead for a safe ride home.

Beginning Dec. 2, through Jan. 5, Bostonians can get a $10 Hailo discount code by visiting bars throughout Boston, Cambridge and Brookline where Miller Lite is served.

MillerCoors and Hailo are also announcing similar partnerships in Chicago and New York City, providing a total of $3 million in taxi fare.

The program is also taking place in New York City and Chicago. / NICOLAUS CZARNECKI, METRO

Officials made the announcement Monday at Anthem Kitchen and Bar, where representatives from both companies shared details on the partnership and safe ride program.

The app is available at www.hailocab.com/boston, and the initiative can be tracked on social media with the hashtag #celebratesafe.

By the numbers

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration released new data this month that showed drunken driving deaths have increased by nearly 5 percent in six years.

According to the NHTSA, there were 10,322 drunk driving fatalities nationwide in 2012, compared to 9,865 in 2011.

Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD) reported that 114 — or roughly 34 percent — of Massachusetts traffic deaths in 2011 were related to drunk driving.

The number had dropped slightly from 2010, which saw 122 drunk driving deaths.

Poll: More people say Obama can't manage government

Obamacare. The poll was conducted Nov. 18-20 amid ongoing problems with the health care law.

Poll problems / GETTY IMAGES

A growing number of Americans doubt President Barack Obama's ability to manage the nation, according to a CNN/ORC poll released on Monday that reflects the possible larger impact of his administration's fumbled rollout of its health care law.

The poll also found that 53 percent of those polled said Obama is not honest or trustworthy, marking the first time that the CNN/ORC polling found a clear majority questioning the president's integrity, CNN said.

Forty percent of the 843 U.S. adults surveyed in the telephone poll early last week said Obama can manage the government effectively, down 12 percentage points from June.

HealthCare.gov, the administration's Web portal for offering private health coverage to uninsured Americans in 36 of the 50 U.S. states, has been at the center of a political firestorm over technical problems that overwhelmed its Oct. 1 launch and have dogged the system. REUTERS

Poll

56%

It found that 56 percent of respondents said they did not admire Obama, disagreed with him on important issues and said he does not inspire confidence.

53%

Fifty-three percent said they do not see him as a strong and decisive leader.

Tough road lies ahead after Iran nuclear deal

President Barack Obama and other global leaders have tough work ahead turning an interim accord into a comprehensive agreement.

In a sign of how difficult the coming talks will be, some differences emerge among Secretary of State John Kerry and his Iranian counterpart in their public presentation of a key part of the deal — whether Iran preserved the right to enrich uranium.

Obama also has to persuade its ally Israel, whose Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu denounced the deal as a "historic mistake," that the accord will reduce and not increase the threat from its arch foe Iran. And he has to sell the accord to skeptics in Congress, including some Democrats, who have been pressing for more sanctions on Iran. REUTERS

Amtrak mishap

Train derails in South Carolina

An Amtrak train headed to New York with about 200 passengers aboard derailed in South Carolina early on Monday, causing minor injuries, officials said.

Seven of the nine cars on Train 20, which departed New Orleans on Sunday, left the track near Spartanburg, S.C., shortly after midnight, Amtrak said in a statement.

The company said all the cars stayed upright in the incident, along with the disabled train's two locomotives. REUTERS

Lockdown. Police search Yale campus for gunman after warning phone call

Police in New Haven, Conn., said they were searching Yale University for a gunman on Monday after an anonymous caller claimed his roommate was headed to the Ivy League school's campus intending to shoot people.

No one was injured and no shots were fired, said New Haven Police Department spokesman David Hartman, who noted that witnesses reported seeing a man on the campus with a "long gun" or rifle of some kind.

The department received a 911 call at 9:30 a.m. from a man on a pay phone near Yale's campus, who stated that his roommate was en route to the Yale University campus "with the intention of shooting people," Hartman told reporters. REUTERS

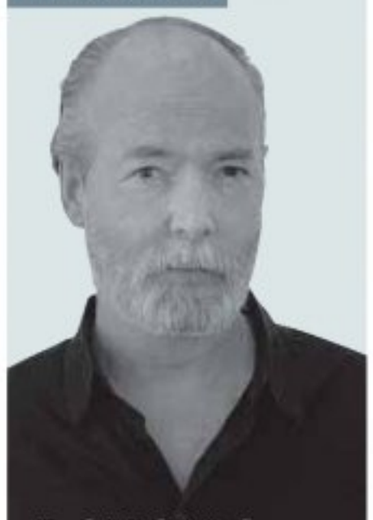
Metro exclusive



DOUGLAS COUPLAND

Douglas Coupland is a Canadian writer, artist and designer. His first novel was 1991's "Generation X: Tales for an Accelerated Culture." His novella, "Temp," of which this is the 15th installment, will be running online and in the pages of your daily Metro each weekday through Nov. 29.

Day 17: Temp learns some secrets

After Sarah left, I tried watching more TV, but the thing about a Kate Winslet DVD marathon is that after about 1.75 movies your brain says, "I can't do this any more!" and forces you to get out of the beanbag chair and do something in the real world.

So I drove to the hospital to visit Danimal. In the Beemer I felt like I barely squeaked through their visitor parking lot's quality-control filter — thank God the car had been recently washed.

Once inside the building, a tastefully clad male escort took me up to the third floor as though I were a guest appearing on David Letterman.

Danimal was in a bed looking woeful. "Shannon!"

"Hi Dan."

"Thanks for saving my life."

"I did no such thing. I just took you to the hospital. How is your ever-so-slightly collapsed left lung?"

I could tell Dan wanted to dramatize his condition but couldn't. "Oh, you know."

"I certainly do. I looked it up online. You'll be 100 percent healed in one week. You should get out of this luxury hotel as soon as you can, too. It'll bankrupt you."

"Too late. I'm already bankrupt."

I cocked an eyebrow. "Really?"

"Why do you think we're dumping the company? I'm going to enjoy this country club lifestyle as long as I can on the insurance company's dollar."

I saw the remains of lunch. "What's the food like here?"

"Insane. Lunch was a wild mushroom risotto with shaved Parmesan. How's your Chinese boyfriend and your evil plan?"

"Dan, I'm assuming it's the painkillers making you stupid, but the fact of the matter is, yes, he and I do have a plan."

"I knew it."

I looked around the gorgeous room (a Warhol print of an eagle on the south wall) and waited for him to say something.

"Well, what is it — what's your plan?"

"I knew you'd ask. I knew you'd crumble."

So I told the Danimal the plan — and then after that, I drove over to his place to check up on Chantelle. I rang the doorbell (also "Dust in the Wind" by Kansas — these people are thorough) and a much cleaner and studlier Darren opened the door in a housecoat, holding a vodka tonic. "Chantelle! It's Florence Nightingale!"

"Ask her to come in."

Dan's house truly rocked — everything you'd expect in the gated community lifestyle. The fire pit alone was the size of my bedroom.

"Hi sweetie, have a drink. Darren, make our guest a Greyhound. There's fresh grapefruit juice in the fridge."

Shannon served as Danimal's Florence Nightingale. Awww.
GETTY IMAGES

"Will do."

"So," asked Chantelle, "How's Dan?"

"He's looking good. Have you gone to see him yet?"

"Maybe tonight. I have to, um, pull myself together."

I said, "I'll drive you."

"That's sweet, but I'll cab it. How are you doing?"

"I got fired this morning."

"Really? Well, sit right down next to me and tell Chantelle everything."

We check in with some of Hollywood's biggest names to see what they've been up to — in their own words, in 140 characters or fewer.

Today, Samantha Ronson is learning new things every day, Russell Brand is understanding canines and Patton Oswalt isn't liking what he sees.

@samantharonson: Spoiler Alert!! A watched pot DOES boil.

@rustyrockets: Lampposts are dog Facebook.

@pattonoswalt: I know I'm basing this solely on watching award shows, but the music industry is awful, right?

Kimberly Williams-Paisley smacks down Carrie Underwood rumors

How would you react if a reporter marched up to you and announced that your country singer husband was cheating on you with a spangly, blonde fellow crooner? Kimberly Williams-Paisley was secure enough to laugh it off.

"Nashville" actress Williams-Paisley is married to country star Brad Paisley. In what reads like a plotline from the show, rumors emerged last week that Paisley was having an affair with fellow star Carrie Underwood. When an Us Weekly reporter relayed the gossip to the "Nashville" star, she was decidedly unimpressed – and burst out laughing.

"Are you serious?" she said. "Wow! I hope it helps our careers! That's all I can say."

The actress said she's confident in the strength of her marriage. "We spend as much time as we can [together]. We're very down-to-earth people. We come from good families, and we appreciate family." MELINDA TAUB

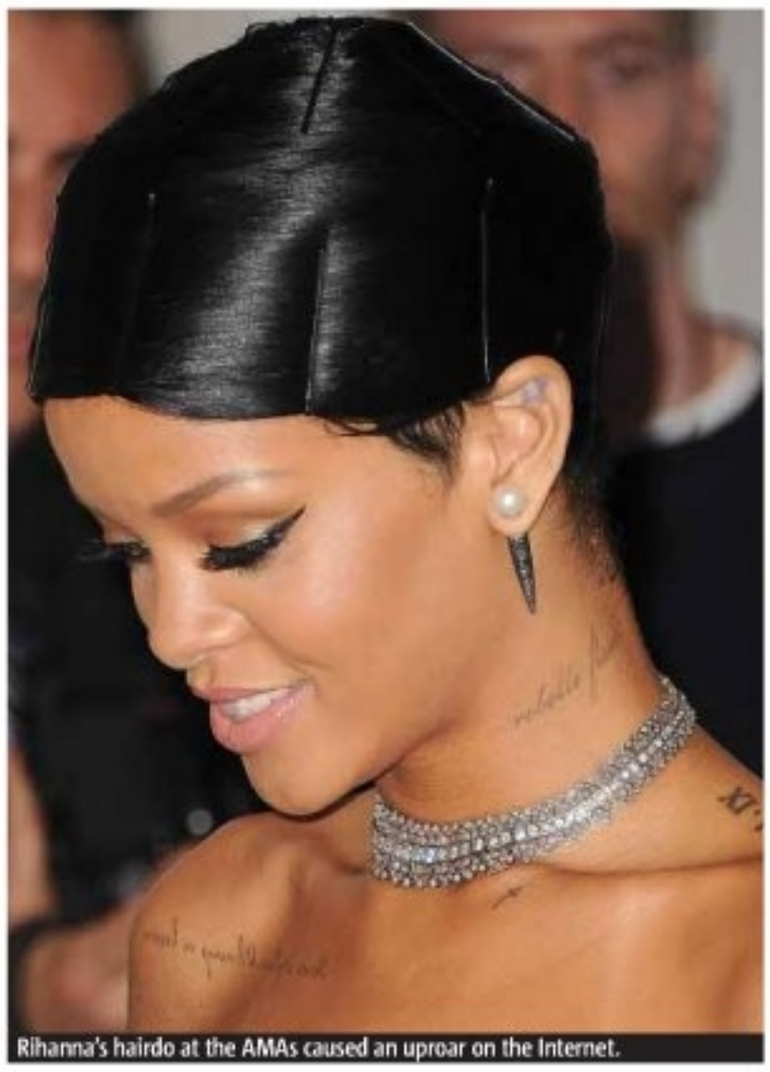
Rihanna's updo of choice: The doobie

Leave it to Rihanna to cause the interwebs to blow up over a hairdo. At the 2013 AMAs on Sunday night, the pop star (who took home the Best Soul/R&B Female Artist award, along with the first-ever Icon Award) sported a doobie wrap with her sexy custom Jean Paul Gaultier ensemble.

The style, which looks like a perfectly chic updo, caused a commotion because it's how most women of color throw their hair up on the way to the salon. It's the equivalent of accepting an award with your hair still in rollers (or, if you're us, a shower cap). But somehow Rihanna magically made the style look like something a princess would wear to a gala. TINA CHADHA



Rihanna's hairdo at the AMAs caused an uproar on the Internet.

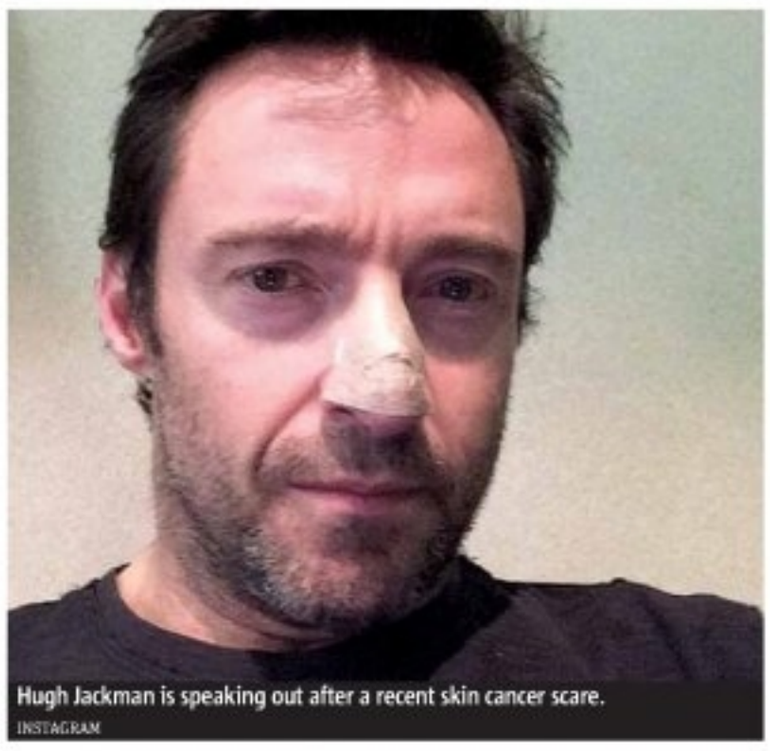
Talking points

Styles weird about Jenner rumors

Harry Styles kind of, sort of denies that he is actually dating Kendall Jenner after taking her to dinner last week. When pressed by Piers Morgan if he and the 18-year-old reality star are dating, Styles said, "We just went out to dinner, so no. I guess. I don't know." That certainly clears it up. Jenner herself hasn't commented on the rumors.

Lawrence back with Hoult

It looks like the summer reconciliation between Jennifer Lawrence and on-again, off-again boyfriend Nicholas Hoult worked out, as a casually dressed Hoult was spotted in Lawrence's limo as she left her taping of "The Daily Show with Jon Stewart" in New York last week, according to Us Weekly. The pair originally met on the set of "X-Men: First Class" in 2010 and dated for about two years before splitting up in January, but they seemed to be back together this summer while filming the next "X-Men" film. Despite Lawrence's hectic travel schedule promoting "The Hunger Games: Catching Fire," she and Hoult "talk constantly," according to a source.



Hugh Jackman is speaking out after a recent skin cancer scare, urging his Instagram followers to be careful. "[My wife] Deb said to get the mark on my nose checked. Live like Lady Gaga

Books. The pop icon's best friend, DJ and writer Brendan Jay Sullivan, tells you how to live your own monster lifestyle.

Before the meat dress, before the sky-high heels and before the fame, Lady Gaga was just a girl bar-hopping her way across the Lower East Side. In his new book, "Rivington Was Ours: Lady Gaga, the Lower East Side, and the Prime of Our Lives," her best friend Brendan Jay Sullivan relives those moments and the years since.

Despite everything that has changed, some things have remained the same about Lady Gaga. Sullivan tells Metro five ways to live like Gaga, so you can live out your own fame monster dreams.

Make your own clothes

"Gaga made all her own clothes in the 'Just Dance' video," Sullivan says. "She bought a disco ball, broke it, took the mirrors off and made a disco ball bra. That same audacity of saying, 'I'm not going to shop for this, I'm going to make my own outfits' — she still acts like that." Reflecting bras aren't your thing? Find steps to make clothes you want to wear by searching "DIY Clothes" on Pinterest. It's a black hole of endless ideas that will help you reinvent your entire wardrobe.

Have a go-to bar

For Lady Gaga and Sullivan, that was Stanton Social, and later St. Jerome (now closed). "You know that feeling when you walk into a bar and you feel like everyone's staring at you? It's because they assume they know you from somewhere," says Sullivan.

Drink this

It's Sullivan and Gaga's signature drink:

- ½ lemon, muddled
- ¼ lime, muddled
- 1 deli packet of sugar
- 1 oz. triple sec
- 2 oz. Sauza Hornitos
- Shaken and served on the rocks in a pint glass

Celebrate small victories

Even if your long-term goals don't involve hatching onstage from a giant egg, dreams don't come true overnight. Nobody knows this better than Lady Gaga and Sullivan. "Success then was when I got a story published in a magazine that only 1,000 copies would get printed, or if Gaga had a show or was getting studio time," Sullivan remembers. "Then it was, 'Oh my God, the record label wants to fly me out to do a video and I want you to come with me.'"

Have a personal mantra

Lady Gaga and Sullivan share one straight from the Bible: "Therefore you must also be ready, for the Son of Man is coming to you at an hour you do not expect." "To us, it means, forget your expectations. Just be ready," he says.

Interview. Spike Lee says "Oldboy" is not a remake. It's a reinterpretation.

Spike Lee has directed five films since 2008's "Miracle at St. Anna," but none have been a big, Hollywood production. "Oldboy" changes that. It's based on Park Chan-wook's South Korean cult sensation, about a man mysteriously imprisoned for 15 years then even more mysteriously released. But don't call it a remake.

What do you call it?: "We are not doing a remake, we're doing a reinterpretation. Before Josh Brolin agreed to do the film, he met with Park, and asked for Park's blessing on the film. And Park gave his blessing and said, 'Make your own film, don't make ours.' So we tried to give our interpretation."

On it not deviating too far from the original: "If it had been radically different, then we would not have been respecting the original source. You have to come in humble. We never came in thinking, 'We're going to dismantle the original and just make it better.'"

Spike Lee's latest film is the new version of the cult fave "Oldboy." / GETTY IMAGES

Q&A

To each his own

Would he be comfortable with anyone remaking his own films?: "Nope."

Has anyone ever approached him with such an offer? "Nope."

On the villain not being just a villain: "He's a monster — but you understand him. The audience has to understand how he became that person, even have some sympathy for him — even though he's not a nice guy."

On shooting in New Orleans: "It's supposed to be a non-descript city. There's no one outside of New Orleans who could look at that film and say it was shot there if they don't read it in end credits. Chinatown doesn't even exist there. The only reason we were shooting in New Orleans was because it has the biggest tax rebate. It can't look like anywhere. It can't look like New Orleans."

His cryptic response to it being credited as "A Spike Lee Film," not "A Spike Lee Joint": "It's a tough business."

Local. Pick your hood and get shopping.

Copley Place opens at 8 a.m. for deals, including The Art of Shaving's $25 off any purchase of $125 or more; John Varvatos's 30 to 40 percent off select merchandise; Elie Tahari's $25 off entire purchase including sale stock; or go for gold with Orogold, a luxury skincare brand that's infused with 24-karat gold and normally quite pricey ($128-$1,500). From Black Friday through Dec. 1, however, purchase one product and receive a second product of equal or lesser value free, each beautifully packaged. That's a deal (www.simon.com).

Ten Thousand Villages' Black Friday "Savings that Sparkle" sale gives 50 percent off gorgeous handmade jewelry and gloves after buying one full-priced item (252 Washington St., 617-372-8743, www.tenthousandvillages.com).

JP's Tres Gatos has a 10 percent discount on all used vinyl and turntables. The Record Store Day special includes a lot of new vinyl, from mono Miles Davis to The Replacements reissues to a new Dawes album. Also, among $5 grab bags containing used 45s, CDs and cassettes, one will contain a "silver cat," which is worth a free turntable (470 Centre St., 617-477-4851, www.tresgatosjp.com).

In the 'burbs, Legacy Place kicks off around 6 a.m. with hundreds of early-bird discounts. White House Black Market's Black Friday sale takes 30 percent off your entire purchase until 9 a.m. and then discounts 25 percent through Sunday. Spend $200 at Carhartt and get $50 back. Stellabella has 20 percent off everything except for Lego and Playmobil. That discount applies to all Stellabella stores (www.stellabellatoys.com).

On the left bank, Harvard Square's Forty Winks has 15 percent off the entire store including sale items (56 JFK St., 617-492-9100). Black Ink will donate 10 percent of Friday's sales to the United Nations World Food Programme, currently working to bring emergency food relief to the survivors of Typhoon Haiyan in the Philippines (5 Brattle St., 617-497-1221). The trickily named Schoenhof's Foreign Books has 10 percent off domestic titles and 20 percent off international merchandise (76A Mount Auburn St., 617-547-8855). The Harvard Book Store's Holiday Hundred books have 20 percent off through the end of December (1256 Mass. Ave., 617-661-1515). Harvard Square original Oona's Experienced Clothing has 10 percent off everything Friday and Saturday (1210 Mass. Ave., 617-491-2654).

At all Toys "R" Us stores, (there are 55 in Massachusetts) storewide clearance will be discounted up to 80 percent through Nov. 30. The deals come in waves with different sets of doorbusters (a nod to the fact that they're aware that people actually bust down doors for Black Friday and they don't pretend that any person attending these sales will act like a civil human being during the process — that's honesty!).

Lastly, at Zero Brattle, Sweet is giving out free coffee or single espresso to anyone purchasing a full-size cupcake between 3 and 5 p.m. on Black Friday. Let's face it; you'll need it.

Target's Black Friday sale starts Thursday at 8 p.m. and runs through closing on Saturday. Door-buster deals include a bonus $75 Target gift card with purchase of an iPad Mini Wi-Fi 16 GB ($299) or $100 gift card with an iPad Air Wi-Fi 16 GB ($479). In the toy department, there's 50 percent off select items, including Monster High, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, Lalaloopsy and Our Generation, when purchasing one at full price. (The two toys must be of the same brand; the discount will be applied to the lower-priced item.)

Among the many discounts at Macy's, select Rampage boots are discounted from $69 to $19. Friday, The GAP opens at 6 a.m. for 50 percent discounts on most stock; Saturday shoppers get 40 percent off their entire purchase. Forever 21's Black Friday sale means up to 50 percent off select items and yellow tag deals with gifts starting at $3. Juicy Couture customers receive a free mug with a purchase of $100 or more. Justice has 50 percent off most merchandise. And, Nordstrom Rack gives a $15 gift card when you spend more than $100. Yankee Candle's deals include 7-ounce jar candles ($5) for the first four hours on Friday.

At Ikea, Black Friday deals include Expedit shelving units at $19.99 (regularly $39.99) and 50 percent off at the Swedish Food Market when you spend $100 in the store. How much are you really saving on Black Friday?

Money. Metro asks shopping expert and SheFinds.com founder Michelle Madhok if hitting the stores at 5 a.m. is really worth it.

The day after Thanksgiving is the busiest shopping day of the year. For most, it's also a paid day off from work. So is dragging yourself out of bed at the crack of dawn really worth it? "I don't think so," says Michelle Madhok, shopping expert and founder of SheFinds.com. "You can get a lot of the same deals online, and there are also some deals you can only get online."

And you don't have to wait until Friday, or even Cyber Monday, to start scoring the best deals. Madhok suggests using deal alert sites such as PriceGrabber.com that tell you when the price drops on an item you want. Prices are dropping now and will continue to do so the rest of the year.

But if you do decide to brave the crowds, Madhok has some helpful tips to make it truly worth it. Her first one is no surprise: Get your electronics first. "The biggest Black Friday deals are on electronics, and getting 70 percent off a TV is better than getting 70 percent off, say, gloves," she says.

Bargain shopping for electronics? Make sure you aren't getting a Black Friday knockoff by looking up the model number.

TOM PENNINGTON, GETTY IMAGES

But buyer beware: Madhok says many retailers make lower quality products specifically for Black Friday. To outsmart these sneaky stores, look up the model number to ensure what you're buying is the same model you want and not a knockoff.

Second, have a plan. "Go to BlackFridayAds.com to see an early release of the coupons and deals. It will help you make a game plan," Madhok says. "Then, head to the stores in advance so you know the layout."

Once you're in the store, use apps to scan your items — Amazon and PriceGrabber are good, but also see our guide on page 19 — to make sure you're getting the lowest price. If not, many stores match the price you find elsewhere.

Last, Madhok advises keeping your receipts, taking photos of them and uploading them to SkyDrive.com or Evernote.com so you can keep them on file. "Ask for a price adjustment if you see the price on an item go down. Many stores will honor that. And American Express will give you a money difference if you find a better deal somewhere else," she says.

Most importantly, remember to keep your cool while you're out bargain hunting.

"Keep it in perspective," Madhok says. "Don't let yourself get carried away with the mob [mentality]. It's not worth it."

"Children love making and drawing things when it's part of a special occasion; it's a fantastic outlet for their excitement and a great way of involving them in the day and keeping them out from under your feet."

Scott Bedford, author of "Made by Dad: 67 Blueprints for Making Cool Stuff"

Crafts with your little turkeys

Distraction. This Thanksgiving, get the kids out from under your feet by having festive projects for them to make.

Scott Bedford, author of "Made by Dad: 67 Blueprints for Making Cool Stuff," knows how important crafts are not only for children's development but also for keeping them occupied, especially at big family get-togethers.

"I'd suggest some pre-Thanksgiving crafts that can be featured on the big day," Bedford says (like his Sneaky Cake Thief, which we are renaming Sneaky Pie Thief to fit better with Thanksgiving, above), "and then some strategic post-dinner crafts, for when the grown-ups want to relax and the kids are bored."

Bedford loves the idea of doing crafts that end up on the Thanksgiving table, such as the customized place cards.

"But I like to put a smile on Granny's face, so perhaps some mischievous 'toilet roll' turkeys roaming across the table and chairs," he says. "And putting their beaks where they are not supposed to — like the cranberry sauce."

Breakfast. Cold mornings call for this healthy and hearty pancake recipe

Zak Normandin is a busy man. Not only is the 29-year-old the father of three young children, but he's also the CEO and founder of Little Duck Organics, the Brooklyn-based snack and cereal brand for kids.

As a way to incorporate his two loves — his kids and his business — Normandin and his kids worked on modifying this pancake recipe from Sally's Baking Addiction to include the latest addition to Little Duck Organics — their Mighty Oats, a single-serving package of instant oatmeal made using grains.

Ingredients

- 1 cup whole-wheat flour
- 3 servings of Little Duck Organics' Mighty Oats in Blueberry & Cinnamon (3/4 cup total)
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 large egg (or 2 egg whites)
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons dark brown sugar (or light brown)

Normandin and his Little Duck Organics products, which are available at Whole Foods / PROVIDED

- 1/4 cup Greek yogurt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Directions

1 Toss the flour, oats, salt, baking powder and cinnamon together in a large bowl. Set aside. In a separate medium bowl, whisk the egg and milk together. Whisk in the brown sugar and yogurt until no lumps remain. Whisk in the vanilla until combined.

2 Make a well in the dry ingredients and pour the wet ingredients in. Stir gently until just combined. Do not overmix the batter or your pancakes will be tough and very dense. Add any mix-ins you prefer, but do not overmix the batter.

3 Heat a griddle or skillet over medium heat. Coat with cooking spray, oil or butter. Once hot, drop about 1/4 cup of batter on the griddle. Cook until the edges look dry and bubbles begin to form on the center, about 1 minute. Flip and cook on the other side until cooked through. Coat griddle/skillet again with non-stick spray for each pancake or batch of pancakes. METRO

Battle zombies in Boston with new iPhone app

Boston-based game studio Thefty Jack has a new family-friendly app out called "Zombie I Scream," available now for the iPhone (99 cents).

In this gore-and-violence-free game, kids can advance through 35 Boston landmarks and neighborhoods including Fenway Park, Harvard Square and the Faneuil Hall by hurling ice cream (in reality, an anti-zombie formula) at a zombie horde to save the city. But be careful! The various zombies are particular about their ice cream and toppings, so it's up to you to make sure they get the right combinations.

China shouldn't throw stones at Kimmel

JFK would be a Republican

Re: 'If Kennedy lived? Experts discuss the person he'd be today' (Metro, Nov. 22-24) Kieron Monks' ideology has him rewriting history and making up his own facts in his recent story about JFK. It was the Southern Democrats such as LBJ, not the Republicans, who had opposed civil rights legislation proposed by the Eisenhower Administration in the 1950s. In 1964, Republicans voted overwhelmingly for the Civil Rights Act, whereas the Southern Democrats heavily opposed it and even filibustered the it in the Senate. JFK gave his last speech in Fort Worth, Texas, on the day of his assassination. He spoke about making American military strength No. 1 again and outdoing the Soviet Union in the space race. JFK was a friend of Israel — as was Bobby Kennedy, who was shot by a Palestinian one year to the day after the start of the 1967 Six-Day War. And until President Reagan's administration, JFK had the largest tax cut in American history. JFK favored a strong national defense, large tax cuts, NASA, Israel and saw America as an exceptional country. He would not recognize his Democrat Party of today, changed in a major way by his own brother, Teddy Kennedy. If he were President today, JFK would be a Republican. And Kieron Monks would oppose him.

Ridley 'sickened' by fumble issue

Patriots running back Stevan Ridley was visibly upset with himself after fumbling against the Broncos Sunday night, slamming his helmet on the sidelines in frustration. Ridley did not hide from the issue after Sunday's game.

"For me, it's almost disgusting, man," Ridley said. "Consecutive weeks. Personally, as a player, my team deserves better. … I can't keep doing this, it's sickening." MATT BURKE

UMass basketball back in AP Top 25

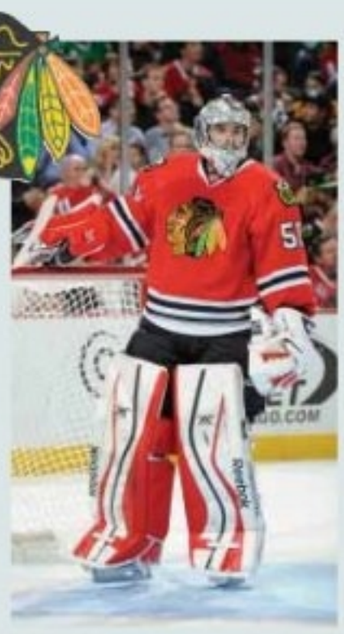
The UMass-Amherst basketball team is back in the AP Top 25 poll for the first time since the 1998-99 season as they were tabbed No. 24 Monday. The Minutemen are 7-0, fresh off beating Nebraska, New Mexico and Clemson in the Charleston (S.C.) Classic.

Head coach Derek Kellogg's team is next at Eastern Michigan on Dec. 3 and faces BYU in Springfield, Mass. on Dec. 7 (1:30 p.m., CBSSN). MATT BURKE

NHL power rankings | by Rich Slate

No. 1

Blackhawks (16-4-4)



No changes at the top as the Blackhawks have firmly settled into a groove. They are 7-2-1 in their last 10 games and have scored an NHL-best 87 goals in just 24 games (a nice rate for this era of low goal totals). Goaltender Corey Crawford leads the NHL with 15 wins but his other numbers are much less impressive: .908 save percentage and a 2.50 goals against average.

No. 2

Blues (16-3-3)

There is so much to like about the Blues, starting with their league-leading goal-differential of plus-27. St. Louis is 8-1-1 in its last 20 games.

No. 3

Ducks (17-6-3)

They have the deepest roster of goaltenders around. Viktor Fasth goes down, so they call up Frederik Andersen.

No. 4

Avalanche (17-5-0)

After falling back a bit, the Avalanche have right the ship with wins in their last three games.

No. 5

Sharks (15-3-5)

The Sharks have the second-best goal-differential (plus-27) in the NHL. Their four games this week against solid teams should prove challenging.

No. 6

Bruins (15-6-2)

The B's are now playing like Cup contenders. Still, it's hard to explain how captain Zdeno Chara is the only regular with a negative plus/minus.

No. 7

Wild (15-5-4)

Josh Harding got hurt in warm-ups Saturday, forcing Niklas Backstrom back into action sooner than they probably preferred.

No. 8

Kings (15-6-3)

The Kings have had some bad luck lately, losing their last two games in overtime. They are still 6-1-3 in their last 10 games.

No. 9

Coyotes (14-5-4)

Their goal-differential is down to plus-4, which is not a good sign. It will be very tough for them to finish in front of the California trio in the Pacific.

No. 10

Penguins (15-9-0)

Superstar forward Evgeni Malkin was named the NHL's first star of the week Monday. His 22 assists are tied for first in the NHL.

No. 11

Maple Leafs (14-8-1)

To be a true contender, they have to win at a higher clip away from Rob Ford's neighborhood. They are just 5-5-1 on the road this season.
